STAGNATION IN STOCK MARKET

The Movement of Prices Showed Doubt and Hesitation.

LOSSES THE RULE FOR TO-DAY.

But These Carried No Conviction of Weakness, and Sales Were Inappreciable-Bond Prices Made Little Change.

NEW YORK, June 14.-It would be difficult to find a salient point in to-day's stock market on which to hang an intelligent opinion of he conditions and the prospect. The trading was a step nearer to the point of absolute stagnation, and the movement of prices throughout showed the doubt and hesitation fust as it has for some time past. Prices are lower on the day, but the losses serve as little to carry conviction of any underlying weakness in the market, as did yesterday's gains of any strength.

Certainly there was no heavy liquidation pressing upon the market to-day. Sales were quite inappreciable, which were made for any other account than that of small room traders, who would eagerly close a contract if they saw a profit of % or % in the change of the price. The dullness became so portentious that the bear traders began to divine all sorts of damage possibilities, the best defined of which was an innending commercial failure, mounting up into an indefinite number of millions. Indifferent linquiry in the trail of this rumor led to the bucket shops, where the trail was lost.

The foreign stock markets were in the prospect. The trading was a step nearer the bucket shops, where the trail was lost.

The foreign stock markets were in the same condition as the New York market as to the duliness of the speculative interest, but showed some firmness on the reduction in the Bank of England discount rate. Private discount rates in London went lower, and the hardening of the rate in Berlin and the further easing of sterling rates, both in Paris and Lerlin, seemed without effect upon the London money market, which is apparently reconciled to surrendering some o, its supply of gold to Paris.

Independent of time money in New York for the longer periods up to seven and eight months was distinctly greater. The supply to meet the demand was apparently ample. The Sub-Treasury statement showed a gain for yesterday of $3,728,600 as a result of the payments for the gold bars which were exported on to-day's steamer to France. Apparently the banks have not made any remittance to the Government institution as yet in response to the call of the Treasury Department for $5,000,000 for Government deposits.

Money is still moving in large volume deposits.

Money is still moving in large volume from the interior to new York, and unless the taking up of the Government deposits is to figure in the Saturday bank statement the cash changes for the week are likely to be small.

There were only slight changes in the prices of bonds on a very small volume of business. Total saies, 8820,000, par value. United States bonds unchanged in bid conductions. value. United States bonds unchanged in bid quotations. The total sales of stocks to-day were 155,000 shares.

Somebody Loved Her

The oldest love letter in the world is a proposal of marriage for the hand of an Egyptian princess, made 3500 years ago. It is in the form of an inscribed brick, and is, therefore, not only the oldest, but the most substantial love letter ever written.

written. You see, she had "weighty evidence" to prove that somebody loved her. They say that one day she said to Pharoah (her pa); "Now that I'm engaged, ain't it almost as good as being married?" To which he repiled: "It's better, if you only knew it." And, as he

COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 14.-COTTON—
Everything pointed to further substantial successes for the bull contingent on the Cotton Exchange to-day. Shorts displayed misgivings before the opening, masmuch as Liverpool had responded enthusiastically to our advance of last night and as advices from the crop centre were far from reassuring. The presence of numerous foreign buying orders, as well as an exhibition of confidence on the part of certain New Orleans interests recently credited with the engineering of a summer month buige, added to the nervousness of shorts, while at the same time serving to create friendliness toward the market and investment circles. The opening was steady, with prices 3 to 6 points higher, later increased to a matter of 6 to 11 points. All things worked together for the interest of the bull faction most of the morning, but toward midday light profit-taking se in and materially cut down the lead, though in no way undermining the convictions of stalwart longs. Private wires reported excessive rains in the Memphis district and unsatisfactory crop conditions generally in the central belt. Southern spot marwart longs. Private wires reported excessive rains in the Memphis district and unsatisfactory crop conditions generally in the central beit. Southern spot markets were reported to have taken a firmer turn on increased export demand, while the official forecast pointed to further rains over the country west of Texas. The whole character of the market changed suddenly soon after midday under a wild scramble to sell for both accounts, under which prices fell to below the closing of last night. The break owed its existence primarily to a rumor that a world-wide known New York commercial house had suspended without warning. It was later proved, however, that the house in question had closed its doors for the day only, owing to the death of a member of the firm. The contradiction failed to reassure the bull crowd, however, and throughout the rest of the afternoon the market was feeble and nervous, with prices unable to raily much from the low point of the day. On the down-thrn the South and Europe were leading sellers, though considerable long stuff came out. The close was quiet, with prices 2 to 5 points net lower.
